Veterinarian's declaration :

Today, I have observed the general condition of this herd, which presents no major clinical signs of disease that would affect the quality or the safety of the milk produced. Where appropriate, cows with a pathological condition are receiving proper care and treatment as part of a prescribed treatment protocol and an action plan. I have verified that this producer has a system in place for identifying treated and sick cows in order to lower the risk of their milk ending up in the milk tank.

I have reviewed and discussed the use of medication for this herd with the undersigned representative of the producer. I have advised this person that medication, drugs and products must always be used as prescribed by the veterinary and that drugs authorized for sale without a prescription must be administered according to the manufacturer's instructions on the label.
